A man in the Wilderness

Boys in the wilderness, adventures, and freedom. Isn't that what we think of when we first hear about the Boy Scouts of America? For Mark Lucas, senior, and newly crowned Eagle Scout of the Year. "To be a good Scout, you must do well, train daily, and follow the scout law and oath everyday," he states.

Everything started in second grade, when flyers about a pack starting in Tecumseh were passed out. Ever since it has been an important part of Mark's life and he has already reached the highest rank; "Eagle Scout." "It has influenced my character in many ways. I like being trustworthy to every person I meet and set goals then to achieve them," Mark says.

Being a part of Boy Scouts of America has given his life many great experiences. Mark remembers: "The best memory of mine was going on a week long camping and canoeing trip on the Dismal River in Western Nebraska." Boy Scouts of America is a great program for boys that offers them fun opportunities, travels within the state, and also career possibilities.

Mark already proved that this is possible, because he is one out of the few, that got a scholarship of $500. "I would like to still be involved in Scouts when I get older. It would be a lot of fun to help other kids achieve their goals like I did," said Mark about his plans for the future. We are proud of Mark for achieving his dreams and supporting our community.

Going for the Gold

Coming off one of the best seasons in school history, boy's head coach, Mr. Luke Boldt, has high expectations for this season and hopes that this year's team will be better than last year's team was. But it looks like the girls are going for the gold this time. After the Turkey Creek relay meet the girls have finished first in the Lewiston invite, MUDECAS, and they were runner-up in the Irish invite falling short by a couple points to a school from Missouri. The boys were runner-up in MUDECAS.

There are a lot of changes in your life right now. Don't expect too much too fast, or your disappointment can turn into discouragement, initiating a vicious cycle that leaves you doubting yourself. But don't worry, things will pick up at the end of the month and you'll have a special surprise.

Lucky Numbers: 9, 16, 29, 34, 68, 320 already broken her record in the 100m dash by running it in 12.5 seconds.

One new event Sterling has picked up once again is pole vault. Nicole Wenzl does pole vault for the girls and has broken the school record by 6 inches launching up and clearing 6'6." Alexa Magill is following in her sisters footsteps finishing first in the two mile in two out of three meets.

This year's team is very young but that doesn't stop the Jets who are in the race for gold.

Night at the Movies

White Chicks starts out strong with two black FBI partners, played by Shawn and Marlon Wayans, who accidentally ruin a drug bust. After the first couple of scenes the movie has got you interested, but unfortunately it sets you up for disappointment. After the agents accidental bust their boss isn't pleased with them, so after a little quarreling with themselves they volunteer for an assignment which is far lower than the standards of their usual work.

Two wealthy sisters are rumored to be the target of an expert kidnapper, and this gives the agents their next assignment.

They're ordered to escort the socialite sisters from the airport to their hotel room. However, The FBI plans to use the girls as bait to catch the kidnapper.

By accident the agents let the girls in on the secret and the girls don't like it. The sisters force the agents to think up another plan because the girls refuse to leave the hotel room as long as they're a target of a kidnapping. After a panic attack by the agents about losing their jobs, they come up with a crazy solution to the problem. They call in a group of government scientists to disguise the black men as the pair of younger, white women.

This film is full of semi-funny jokes and unrealistic plot details. Overall it is so cheesy that it probably won't appeal to a middle-age audience but some younger viewers may find it good for a laugh or two.

Jr. High News

Everyone has a cell phone right?, not quite. Of the 46 6-8th graders surveyed, only 13 of them do not have a personal cell phone of their own. Of the 33 students that have cell phones Chelsea McDonald has had hers the longest at five years. Only Terrell Hobbs has no desire for a cell phone, the remaining 12 students without a phone wish for one. When asked why students thought they needed a phone responses included, "Because I never go to the same places as the other people in my family," Jordan Lempka. Alex Donovan added, "I need one for emergencies."

For those students who do not have a cell phone, but want one, say their reasons for not having one include, "They are too expensive," Erika Goracke and "Because my mom thinks I'll text too much," Hanna Jasa. So what do you think? At what age should students be given his/her own cell phone, and at what age did you get your first one, or are you still waiting? By: Mitchell Elliot

Getcha Some Answers

With track, quiz bowl, school, and every thing else going on I can't keep my grades up. What should I do?

The best advice I can give you is to use good time management skills and to prioritize. Use good time management skills to fit everything you need to do. If you don't have enough time to do it all then prioritize. Decide which things are most important and do those first. It might take a little while but eventually everything will get easier.
